FURNITURE COVERS

Brown Jordan Furniture Covers are constructed of a neutral fabric that glides gently over your furniture piece or entire collection. The custom designed covers are engineered to fit Brown Jordan furniture and umbrellas. A barrel clasp drawstring at the base of each cover cinches tight to create a firm fit and reduce wind flapping. See Brown Jordan price list for specific collection product numbers.

BROWN JORDAN ADVANTAGE

Left page shown with Venetian Lounge Chair in Coffee finish with Calm cushions.

PROPRIETARY MULTI-STEP POWDER COAT TECHNIQUE

Each piece of Brown Jordan aluminum furniture undergoes a rigorous finishing treatment that results in a beautiful, lasting piece of furniture.

JEWEL LIKE WELDING

A meticulous welding process is taken to prepare assembled frames for painting. Welded joints are ground to achieve uniform dimension. Each frame is then sanded, buffed and polished to achieve a smooth surface allowing for better adhesion for the final powder coat. The end result is a smooth frame with an aesthetically pleasing appearance.

FIVE-STAGE PRE-TREATMENT

Each frame is processed in a special pretreatment wash system with the purpose of removing any particles remaining from the buffing and polishing process as well as any remaining oil residue from fabrication while preparing the metal for the paint process. Untreated aluminum is a porous material with naturally occurring microscopic fissures and clefts. The pre-treatment process is a five step application of a detergent wash, clean rinse, special solvent metal preparation bath for superior paint adhesion, and two additional rinse processes to ensure exceptional cleanliness. Clean frames are then heat dried to evacuate any liquid from within the frame.

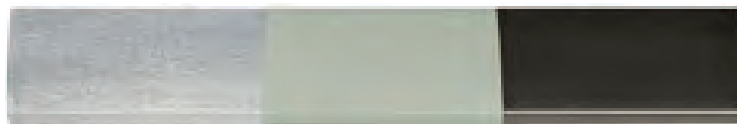

HYBRID BASE COAT PRIMER SEALANT

Our Hybrid primer base coat is an epoxy/polyester blend that creates a superior platform over which the finish color coat is applied. The epoxy portion is a superior bonding agent that is specially formulated to adhere to metal. During the final cure, the epoxy will not reflow, as does the polyester, resulting in a harder sub-coat that protects the metal from corrosion. While the polyester portion does reflow, this process creates a bond with the top finish coat. The outcome is an advanced, integrated bond that results in a superior resistance to paint delamination while providing for improved color and gloss retention.

POWDER COATING

The Ultra Fuse powder coat final finish is applied with an electrostatic technique that creates a complete and uniform coating on all areas of the frame, including the bends and corners. The result is an attractive, durable, high-quality finish that will not flake, peel, or blister.

Sturdy and attractive material with a classic and contemporary look. Brown Jordan treated its metal with a rust- and heat-resistant finish so little maintenance was needed.

1972 BRADLEY VII

1977 NOMAD

An industrial designer from Pasadena, California named Robert Brown, dreamed the idea of leisure furniture that could be used outdoors all year long. Mr. Brown designed a five piece collection which was sold in Bullock's Department Store in the late 1930's.

World War II brought the fledgling company to a halt, but in the early 1940's Robert Brown was once again calling on Bullock's with the now classic "Morning Glory" collection. Hubert Jordan joined Brown to bring Brown's revolutionary concepts to a booming country embracing the idea of outdoor leisure.

TEAK WOOD

All wood furniture is handcrafted and machinemade of plantation-grown teak. Highlights include traditional wood joinery and contemporary fastening techniques. Furniture is hand-sanded to provide a low-sheen, soft-hand and golden-hued finish. Without wax or oil treatment, the wood will patina over time to a soft, silver-gray color.

RESINWEAVE

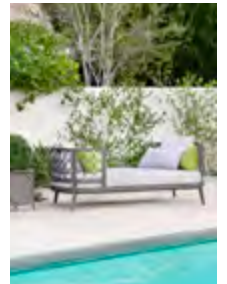

All woven furniture features a high-quality, synthetic resin fiber extruded into various profiles and colors. Using traditional weaving techniques, the resin is hand-woven over extruded aluminum frames. Our woven product is a special synthetic material that is 100% recyclable and perfect for indoor and outdoor use. It is fade-resistant and will not crack, peel, or absorb stains or heat.
